DIRECT JAB AT JAMES E. WATSON

Writer of Article in Collier's Weekly on Beveridge Devotes Paragraph to Former Congressman.

WAS IN INDIANAPOLIS STAR

Juggles Facts With Surprising Ease and Wantonly Writes Absolute Falsehoods Concerning Watson

An article, published in Collier's Weekly, October fifteen, and reproduced in the Indianapolis Star last Sunday on "The Beginnings of Beveridge," supposed to be reminiscences of Prof. Joseph Carhart, formerly a professor in DePauw University, but now retired and living in Indianapolis, is false, at least that part of it which pertains and is a slap in the face of James E. Watson of this city and it may be presumed that the writer who will not hesitate to wantonly state one falsehood in an article would likewise juggle the facts in other instances.

As mentioned above, the article is said to be an interview with Mr. Carhart at his home in Indianapolis and was written by Richard Lloyd Jones. It reviews the life of Beveridge in which it is alleged that he had a very humble beginning on the farm. The article tells how the senior senator was given fifty dollars to start on his college career and how he made all of the rest of his expenses.

In glowing terms the author of the eulogy tells of how the senior senator won debate after debate and oratorical contest after oratorical contest; how he defeated every comer and even frightened many expected entrants out, and how he gave the one-man oration at DePauw, when nine other contestants were compelled to withdraw through fright, when they heard that Albert J. Beveridge was an entrant. Mr. Jones tells of the entrance of the senator as a boy to college, and the at-that-time-unprecedented egotism and assurance that he seemed to possess, the belief in himself which he displayed all through his public career.

But that part which deals more directly with James E. Watson, the former congressman from the Sixth district, is of more interest. Mr. Jones reserves one short paragraph for the local statesman and in there juggles facts with surprising ease. He makes one statement which every voter in this district or the United States, who has followed politics at all, will recognize as an absolute falsehood. He states in so many words that the former congressman was defeated as a candidate for reelection to congress, which is a malicious lie. It is generally known that Mr. Watson retired from the race in the Sixth district to make the race for the nomination for governor of Indiana on the Republican ticket, Mr. Barnard becoming a candidate for congress from the Sixth district.

But that is not the only falsehood that is contained in that short paragraph. The writer states that Mr. Watson has been the present senator's enemy since their college days at DePauw, when Beveridge took all of the honors and Watson was fired. Mr. Watson does not deny that he was "canned" but he does deny that he ever lost any contest to Mr. Beveridge, but that is a small matter. The only two oratorical contests in which he ever participated, where Mr. Beveridge took part, he won them with ease. He has some other interesting stories to tell of their school days together.

That matters little who won the debates, suffice it to say that Mr. Watson was not a student in oratory nor did he carry any work under Prof. Carhart.

PRACTICING FOR SHOW

Milroy Miss is Thrown From Horse and Hurt.

While riding a horse at a fast gait one evening recently Miss Flossie Morris barely escaped serious injury, says the Milroy Press. Her horse stumbled, fell and completely turned over. She luckily freed her feet from the stirrups, but was violently thrown into a ditch by the roadside. She was picked up unconscious, but soon recovered and was able to attend school Friday. Miss Morris is to take part in the horse show at Rushville.

PLAN RALLY DAY FOR NEW SALEM

John H. Kiplinger and A. J. Ross Will Deliver Republican Speeches There This Evening.

ANDERSONVILLE BAND PLAYS

John H. Kiplinger of this city and A. J. Ross, an attorney of Andersonville, pleased a large crowd of farmers at Neff's Corner last evening with two Republican speeches. They both talked along the main issues of the campaign, arousing considerable enthusiasm. Mr. Kiplinger touched on the tariff question and a few other important legislative steps taken by the present national administration. He dwelt at length on the county and State ticket and made an appeal for the votes of the farmer of the strong ticket which Rush county Republicans have to offer this year.

Mr. Ross and Mr. Kiplinger will address a meeting at New Salem tonight. They made arrangements there today to turn the meeting into a big rally. The Andersonville band has been engaged and a large crowd is expected.

WOMAN IN BLACK SEEN LAST NIGHT

Mysterious Character Again at Her Old Tricks in Northern Part of the City.

CHASES A RESIDENT HOME

The mysterious "woman in black," who several years ago, worried and scared the population in the northern part of the city by her queer actions was seen again last night. Whether this is the same woman who caused the commotion at that time is not known. She was seen last night at the intersection of Morgan street and the Pennsylvania railroad. While on his way home at a rather late hour a resident of that part of the city was pursued by this mysterious woman who was dressed from head to foot in black. She made a very imposing figure in the moonlight. One of her old "stunts" is just to follow a person and never utter a sound. This she did last night. Every time the man stopped, the woman would do the same, always keeping in the rear about twenty feet. This soon got on the man's nerves and he made a dash for home. It is to be hoped that if this woman keeps at her little game, that she be speedily captured.

ARE READY FOR OPENING GUN

Third Annual Horse Show Will be Auspiciously Opened Tomorrow Morning at 9 O'clock.

MAYOR BLACK WILL SPEAK

Downtown Streets Are Flaunting Mass of Red and White For the Occasion.

Promptly at nine o'clock tomorrow morning the third annual horse show will be auspiciously started with a parade, led by the Rushville band and followed by carriage, carrying Lieut. Gov. Frank J. Hall and Mayor B. A. Black, over the downtown streets. The parade will break in First street near the south door of the court house, where a stand has been erected. There the lieutenant governor will make an address of welcome and Mayor Black in a short address, will turn over the keys of the city to the horse show managers for the three days. Then the show will be on in full blast. The band will play on the stand at the court house entrance during the show, so long as the events are being held in First street.

The city began to take on the horse show dress today and by tonight the downtown district will be a flaunting sea of red and white. All of the merchants are joining in the spirit of the occasion with becoming zeal and are decorating their places of business. The great majority of the business men have hung the horse show emblems in red and white on wires in front of their places of business and the city is beginning to take on gala appearance. Many of the merchants, in fact practically all of them, are decorating their windows and store interiors for the occasion. There is a keen interest being displayed in the contest for the best decorated window. Three prizes are offered, which will be awarded by competent judges, for the three best windows.

Excitement reigned at the Davis Brothers' barn today, where the horses were brought in for the show. Every indication points to the fact that an unprecedented amount of stock will be shown this year, far in excess of any other year. The managers of the show said today that they expected by far a greater showing this year than ever before. The revised premium list which was made possible by the liberal support given to the show by the merchants, and in many more events were incorporated, has attracted many horse owners to the show.

It is very probable that all of the shows will be made in First street, as it is the only convenient place at present. The condition of the streets at the corner of Main and Second, makes it impossible to judge any of the events on either of the streets on account of the building which is in progress there. The parades will be made all over the downtown streets.

The show will continue tomorrow and next day, the events to be started at ten o'clock in the morning. The managers found it necessary to begin early in the morning on account of the large number of classes to be judged and the great number of entries so that the whole list could be gone over in two days.

The show promoters have no fears for financial reasons this year, as they have almost enough money subscribed now to pay all of the expenses of the show. They feel very much indebted to the business men of the city for their liberal financial assistance.

Zanzabar and the neighboring island of Pemba supply most of the world's cloves.

WAS RED LETTER DAY FOR LIBRARY

Seventy-Five Books Were Loaned in Few Hours Which Establishes Record For New Institution.

LOANS HAVE BEEN NEAR THAT

Library Now Boasts of 590 People Who Have Taken Out Borrowers' Cards.

Last Saturday was the red letter day for the public library—seventy-five books having been loaned—the largest number in any one day since its establishment. At several times the loans have reached fifty and sixty, but seventy-five is now the record. All persons interested in the public library are especially gratified with its success. With only 989 books on the shelves, about 850 of these to be loaned, the rest being books of reference, the keen observer will notice by the study of the daily record of the books loaned how fast these books are being passed from person to person. The library boasts of 590 people who have taken out borrowers' cards and these include both people in the city and in the country.

A library is an essential part of a broad system of education, and a community should think it as discreditable to be without a well-conducted free public library as to be without a good school. If it is the duty of the State to give each future citizen an opportunity to learn to read, it is equally its duty to give each citizen an opportunity to use that power wisely for himself and the State. Wholesale literature can be furnished to all the readers in a community at a fraction of the cost necessary to teach them to read and the power to read may then become a means of life-long education.

The books that a boy reads for pleasure do more to determine his ideals and shape his character than the text books he studied in the schools. Bad and indifferent literature is now so common that the boys will have some sort of reading. If they have a good public library they will read wholesome books and learn to admire Washington, Lincoln and other great men. Without a library many of them will gloat over the exploits of depraved men and women and their earliest ambitions will be tainted.

Each town needs a library to furnish more practice in reading for the little folks in school; it needs it to give the boys and girls who have learned to read a taste for wholesome literature that informs and inspires; it needs it as a center for an intellectual and spiritual activity that shall lighten the whole community and make healthful and inspiring themes the burden of the common thought—substituting, by natural methods, clean conversation and literature for petty gossip, scandal and oral and printed teachings in vice.

COUNCIL TO TALK ON LIGHT QUESTION

Will Meet With Committee From Retail Merchants' Association This Evening.

WERE IN SESSION LAST NIGHT

The city council will meet as a committee tonight with a committee from the Rushville Retail Merchants' Association tonight to discuss the pedestal light question which has been a much discussed one here in the past few weeks. It is very probable that an agreement will be made this evening.

The city council met in regular session last night and transacted regular business. After that they went into secret session and all of the people in the council chamber were asked to leave. It is said that they had the new light and the boiler question up for consideration. They have not yet awarded the contract for the new boilers.

AGED WOMAN IS DEAD OF APOPLEXY

FUNERAL TO BE HELD FRIDAY

Mrs. Ephraim Buell, about sixty years of age, died at her home in Milroy this morning of apoplexy at three o'clock. She suffered a very severe attack of the disease last Saturday and never was able to recover from the effects. Last Saturday at noon, she was suddenly stricken with apoplexy while engaged in getting dinner. Her son, Bert Buell happened to come home and found her in a chair in the kitchen. It was thought that her condition was very dangerous and that she could not live. She is survived by a husband and three sons. The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock.

WATSON IS GENT FROM INDIANA

Former Resident Writes From Boston, Mass., That Local Statesman is Tremendous Hit.

LARGE CROWDS GREETED HIM

By Comparison With Ablest Public Men in Mother State of Union, he Stands Out Pre-eminently.

James E. Watson arrived Monday evening from a successful speaking trip through the eastern States, where he was greeted by large audiences all over Massachusetts and Connecticut. According to word received here, Mr. Watson is very much in demand in the eastern States, where he has been speaking and where he is generally known as the "Gentleman From Indiana." Mr. Watson spent yesterday at home and left this morning for another week of speaking.

The former congressman left this morning for East St. Louis, Mo., where he will deliver a Republican address tonight. Leaving there on a midnight train, he will arrive in South Charleston, Ohio, tomorrow morning and will make a speech there tomorrow evening. From there Mr. Watson will go to Pittsburgh, Pa., and will make a speech in Dalzell's district. On Saturday night Mr. Watson will speak in Wilmington, Ohio, and will arrive home Sunday.

A former resident of Rushville, who now lives in Boston, Mass., has written here concerning the great popularity which the former congressman enjoys in Massachusetts. He states that Mr. Watson was on the toast list at a banquet there and was accorded the honors of the evening for his speech. All of the other men, including the governor and lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, one senator and several congressmen on the toast list, referred to the local statesman as the "Gentleman From Indiana," and paid him many high compliments for his oratory and wit. The writer says that Mr. Watson addressed the Norfolk club in Boston and a big Republican gathering at Waltham, Mass.

The writer continues, "The people at home know how Mr. Watson speaks as they have heard him many times. But when he comes to the commonwealth of Massachusetts, which is in a sense the mother to the nation and eclipses such men as the best statesmen they have to offer, then it is a comparison that displays his true ability. It is not intended that my words be used, but certainly it will do no harm to let the people of Rushville know that Mr. Watson of Rushville, Indiana, is making a tremendous hit in and about Boston town."

SOME COMMENT.

AN UP-TO-DATE DRUGGIST

says it is surprising how many old-fashioned remedies are being used, which goes to show that it is hard to improve some of our grandmothers' old, time-tried remedies. For instance, for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy, nothing equaling our grandmothers' "sage tea" has ever been discovered. Although, by the addition of sulphur and other ingredients, this old-fashioned brew has been made more effective as a scalp tonic and color restorer. Nowadays when our hair comes out or gets faded or gray, instead of going to the garden or garret for herbs and making the "tea" ourselves, we simply go to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. This preparation is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

Don't Burn Up Your New Dress

Scores of women will do it this winter, in some poor, old base burner; and they'll get very little warmth out of it, too.

Don't you think it would be a good idea to buy a First Class Favorite Base Burner, with Triple Exposed Flues, and save enough on your coal bills this winter to buy a new dress in the spring? It is a positive fact—the Favorite does burn less coal and throws out more heat than any other base burner made.

It took an organized body of stove experts nearly fifty years to perfect it. There is no other Base Burner like it, because the features that make it such a wonderful and economical heater are patented. It is the most attractive and best made stove, too.

In the Triple exposed Flues you will find one reason why it will save fully one half on your coal bills. But there are many other reasons—too many to mention here. Come and see us, and we will show you that there is no other base burner that will compare with the Favorite.

Pleased With New Mexico

The following letter has been received by Carl Nipp, which is itself explanatory:

Roswell, New Mexico, Oct. 3, 1910.

At a little impromptu Rush county reunion we thought it no more than right that you should have a letter from us. With the brightest of bright sunshine every day, with delightful days and nights that will cure the worst cases of insomnia we are all satisfied and happy. When it comes to a matter of climate we think there is nothing quite like New Mexico. Those who have come here from Rush county for health reasons are satisfied that this air is the best medicine ever invented. They are all doing fine and getting fat.

All the Rush county folks are much interested in the Orchard Park deal and are looking forward eagerly to the time when the New Rushville will be a reality. The "Ball farm" a mile south of Orchard Park is also a center of interest and every Rush county person is watching the alfalfa and fruit trees grow by inches.

While a visit with the friends "back home" would be very enjoyable it is our idea to bring the friends down here where every day it is a pleasure to live and where rainy, sloppy, snowy, muddy disagreeable weather is unknown. And all of us who were in a position to do so have shown our confidence in the business advantages of the Pecos Valley by investing in the soil. And we are all expecting to stay with it and see it grow into dollars.

Hoping that you will be able to convince many other Rush county people that New Mexico is the place to come we are

The Romance of the Telephone.

The Telephone, which is now taken for granted as a commonplace accessory of everyday life, was, hardly more than a quarter of a century ago, an unheard of thing, and had the visionary who dreamed of its first crude form, told his dream, its impossibility would have been quickly pointed out to him. The wonderful romance which Herbert N. Casson has unfolded under the title "The History of the Telephone" (just published by A. C. McClurg & Co., Chicago,) is interesting from more than one point of view, but perhaps the most fascinating aspect of the story is that which shows the will power of Alexander Graham Bell and his associates in overcoming apparent impossibilities by invention after invention each necessary to counter some unforeseen difficulty.

The story unfolded is a remarkable one. At the present day the Telephone has become as much an integral part of our daily lives as the clock and the watch. In the city no family is without one, no business house can do a day's business without its aid, every train that moves, every ship that leaves harbor, every event on track or turf depends upon it, doctor and patient, and lawyer and client are brought together by it. The history of this marvelous invention is one, therefore, that concerns everybody. The book is handsomely bound in cloth and is sold at $1.50 net.

PEOPLE CROWD TO HEAR BRYAN

Southern Indiana Turns Out to Greet Commoner.

APPLAUDED IN SAME OLD WAY

The Nebraskan Does Not Seem to Have Lost Any of His Original Drawing Power, the People in Southern Part of the State Gathering in Unusual Fashion to Cheer His Utterances—At Indianapolis Tonight.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 19.—Bryan's speaking tour of southern Indiana has greatly pleased the party leaders, who find him drawing the largest crowds that have come out to meetings in this section. People are coming twenty or thirty miles to hear him and are applauding him in the same old way. At Evansville, Owensburg, Petersburg and Bloomfield have assembled the most enthusiastic crowds of the campaign, and Bryan has received attention not given to any other speaker.

An incident of his trip from Evansville to Petersburg caused considerable amusement on the train. People at Elberfeld, Rosebud, Somerville and other small mining towns demanded that the train stop long enough for them to greet Bryan. Most of the places are flag stations, and at all of them the train was duly flagged. It developed that the local agents had agreed to stop the train, though there were no passengers to get on, because the people were so insistent that they were afraid not to put out the flags. Bryan came out on the platform at all the places and said a few words and shook hands with a great number of persons, while shouts rent the air. Mr. Bryan will speak at Indianapolis tonight.

ENGINE AGAINST NICKEL

Wager Led to Lawsuit and Owner Lost His Machine.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Oct. 19.—A lawsuit for possession of an old thrashing engine was compromised before the case was called for trial in the circuit court, both parties to the suit paying the costs, amounting to about $200. Alois Knecht, a well-to-do farmer of Jackson township, was returning the engine to his farm when it ran into a deep ditch. He hitched six horses to the engine, but they could not drag it back to the road.

Edward Henke, merchant and postmaster at Weisburg, drove by and wagered a nickel against the engine that his small horse could pull the machine from the ditch. Henke, with jacks, blocks and ropes, raised the heavy engine, built a trestle, and with a rope and several pulleys, the horse dragged it back to the road. Henke later took the engine to his farm and Knecht brought suit to recover it, claiming the wager was a joke. Under the settlement Henke retains the engine.

TERROR STRICKEN

Motormen of Faded Trolley Cars Incapacitated by Fright, Says Coroner.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 19.—In his verdict in the case of the Kingsland wreck victims who died in hospitals in this city, Coroner A. J. Kesler ascribed the neglect to Motorman Charles Vandine of the northbound car as well to Motorman Corkwell and Conductor Wilson of the southbound car, which overran its orders. Coroner Kesler criticizes both motormen for what appears to have been a failure of any attempt to stop the cars when they saw the crash was inevitable. The officers believe they were too terror-stricken to act. Motorman Vandine has until now been held blameless, and he has resumed his run on the trolley line.

WHIPPING CASE SETTLED

Miss Annie Kelley Pays Judgment Obtained by a Boy Pupil.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 19.—The famous case of Michael Burke against Miss Annie Kelley, his school teacher, has been settled by Miss Kelley paying $1,200 to the boy's father, William Burke. The case originated four years ago, when Miss Kelley, teacher in the Tolono schools, and Sherman Cass, her principal, were charged with whipping young Burke and making him a cripple for life. A suit for $10,000 was brought and judgment for $1,800 was granted. Then came the fight to collect the judgment. Cass went to jail and stayed there six months rather than pay the amount against him, the Burkes paying his board while he was in prison. He finally settled his part of the judgment for $600.

Miss Kelley went to Danville and entered into bankruptcy, claiming that the civil courts had no jurisdiction over her. F. M. Wright, United States circuit judge, upheld her contention, but his decision was overruled and Miss Kelley fled. The entire case was settled when Miss Kelley paid the $1,200 and court costs of $700 or $800.

Gary People Witness the Bossing of the Boss of Thousands.

Gary, Ind., Oct. 19.—Residents of Gary who had gathered in Jefferson park to get a glimpse of Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, as he inspected the park, were much surprised to see the man who is boss of 225,000 men, take orders from a woman and obey them. That woman was his wife. The steel magnate after whom the city is named wished to get out of the auto in which he was riding to take a walk through the park with Captain Norton, resident property chief of the corporation. "Elbert, you are not feeling well," the bystanders heard Mrs. Gary say, "you will stay right in here," and Elbert stayed.

Judge Gary came to the city with the members of the American Iron and Steel Institute, of which he is president, and their European guests. The party came in a special train and inspected the Gary steel plant and took an auto ride through the model city.

THE CUBS GOT AN AWFUL BEATING

Athletics Laid It Over On Them Nine to Three.

A DECIDEDLY ONE-SIDED GAME

American League Champions Pounded the National Leaguers All Over the Field—Indeed, a More Soundly Beaten Bunch Than the Cubs Would Be Hard to Find—Quakers Not Much on Excitement at Ball Games.

At Philadelphia— R.H.E.
Chicago... 1 0 0 0 0 1 0 1—3 9 3
Philadelphia 0 0 2 0 1 0 6 0—9 14 3
Batteries—Brown, Richie and Kling; Coombs and Thomas.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 19.—The Athletics made a show of the Cubs Tuesday in the second game of the world series. Led by Eddie Collins, who made three hits, two of them doubles, the American league champions pounded Miner Brown to bits. After several innings in which they had him in bad straits, the home clubbers fell on him in the seventh and slashed his delivery for six runs. The Athletics ran bases all around the Cubs, and had these veterans as far up in the air as if they had been minor leaguers. Richie was sent in for the closing inning to face the Athletics and escaped runless. Thousands of those who came to see the second game quit early and by the time the last out was made, nearly half the seats were empty. The crowd apparently did not have the least fear that the Cubs were going to rally and indeed a more soundly beaten bunch than the National Leaguers it would be hard to find. The score was 9 to 3.

But for the matter of that, Coombs was lucky to get away with his game. It was only the wonderful fielding of the Athletics that saved time and again. He had his side in difficulties every inning but two. He pitched a very inferior game, uneven and uncertain. But just so soon as he worked himself into a bad box along came a star play of some sort by his support and the knot was untied. The Athletics made three double plays to save Coombs, and one of them was the finest bit of fielding seen hereabouts in some years. With the bases full and one out in the fourth, Chance, the Cub leader, drove a fly high but not deep, to right field. It looked like a certain sacrifice. Murphy closed in on it, and made one process of the catch and the throw. He lashed the ball straight and true to the plate, so that it got there on a short bound and the catcher was waiting for Miner Brown, no slow runner, when the pitcher reached the plate, and the other doubles were just as handy, too. Let it be mentioned that Collins, who figured in both the others, accepted ten chances safely, scored two runs, made three hits in four times up, scored two runs and stole two bases on the redoubtable Kling. Collins was the star, chiefly because he drove in the Athletics' first two runs with a sparkling double down the left field line, but the whole Athletic crowd was there with the batting eye.

Every man made at least one hit, and they were all clean, solid smacks that rang off the bat in good style. There was more free, heart-whole hitting on the part of the Athletics than the Cubs are accustomed to meeting. It is a curious thing about the crowds that have been here the two days of the world's series, that although large and appreciative of good ball playing, they are capable of enthusiasm for brief moments only. Applaud they do, but by handclapping as much as anything. They don't begin to compare with the New York or Chicago crowds for vociferous demonstrations of pleasure. There is not any really frantic rush to get into the park, and there is not any dashing out of the place. They saunter here, and they are self-contained folks.

There were not quite as many folks here yesterday as there were the day before. The paid attendance figures were 24,597. The money taken in was $35,137. Of this the players' share is $18,973.98, the clubs' $12,649.32, and the commission's $3,513.

New Agricultural Campaign

(Technical World Magazine.)

Into the old fatalistic idea of farming come the experimenting optimists of the United States Department of Agriculture with the idea that seasons are relatively unimportant. Nature is bountiful, but the age when she acted as a fairy godmother to infant humanity disappeared with the lost tribes of Israel and now the treasures must be looked for with the test tube and the experiment field. It is not enough to plow and plant. There are ways of plowing and ways of planting and the big returns follow the best methods.

Pursuing this idea, the investigators have discovered a few of the simple and practical methods and demonstrated that a corn field which produces twenty bushels to the acre under ordinary methods will produce twenty-five bushels with careful selection of seed. By improved methods of preparing the soil the yield can be increased to thirty bushels. The correct use of fertilizer or a good crop rotation system will add another five bushels to the yield and a scientific method of cultivation will bring the product up to forty bushels, thereby accomplishing the important economic feat of placing two corn ponies in the oven where only one baked before.

They have made farming a business in which the profits can be forecast with as much accuracy as in any other business. It is their belief that the season as an unavoidable factor in farming is a myth, just like the aged idea that potatoes, having eyes, should be planted in the dark of the moon so that no light would lure them above the ground to waste their strength in a luxuriant growth of valueless vines. They have proven that the inherited depravity of seed and soil and season can be overcome and that the bad season is a condition of farming just as much as it is a condition of the weather.

For years the Department of Agriculture has aided in the maintenance of experiment stations in every State, but the new missionary campaign carries the instruction into the homes of the farmers themselves. The test and demonstrations are carried on, not on government land, but on the land of the farmer, and the work done by him, under the direction of the government agent.

in the south central states, where it is most needed, and in a hundred communities, a miracle of transformation has been worked, not only in the production of better crops, but in the optimism that follows. The movement in each community usually starts with a school house meeting championed by the commercial club or the progressive business men from the county seat. The importance of better farming methods is discussed and the plan for the establishment of experiment tracts to be cultivated under the supervision of government experts is told of. The farmers are urged to devote from one to five acres for this purpose. They are asked to take nothing for granted, to believe nothing that they do not see and to follow only the methods which through their own work on the experimental tract prove successful. Throughout the season these experimental tracts are visited by the department agent who gives expert instruction as to the cultivation of the crops.

Sometimes the farmers of a community meet him at one of the demonstration farms or at a general meeting held at the school house. Here the farm missionaries borrow an idea from the revival meetings of the country districts and the exhorting talk of the lecturer is followed by an experience meeting, in which those who have been converted from the dark belief of hap-hazard farming to the true light of scientific agriculture tell of their change of faith and the attendant result.

At a recent meeting of this kind in Alabama a lanky cotton planter arose to say: "I was born in a cotton field and have worked cotton on my farm for more than forty years. I thought no one could tell me anything about raising cotton. I had usually raised one-half a bale on my thin soil and I thought that was all the cotton there was in it in one season. The demonstration agent came along and wanted me to try his plan on two acres. Not to be contrary I agreed, but I did not believe what he told me. However, I tried my best to do as he said, and at the end of the year I had a bale and a half to the acre on the two acres I had worked his way and a little over a third of a bale on the land I had worked my way. You could have knocked me down with a feather. This year I have a bale and a half to the acre on my whole farm. As a cotton planter I am just one year old."

Last season Dan B. Ross, of Carthage, Texas, one of the reform farmers, made 916 bushels of corn on fifteen acres of land and seventeen bales of cotton on the same area, his year's work giving him a profit of $4000. Yet he did not have any rain from May 12 to August 15—a drouth period supposed to make a successful crop impossible. His neighbors' crops were so small that one hundred of them had to secure their seed from him.

Hats for 'Lady Autoists'

The pastime of motoring, for which women have gone in extensively, has brought out a new line of millinery, for what women would care to motor if she could not be attractively clad in the doing? New materials of a kind we never thought to associate with millinery have been brought into service, and the adaptation of kid, cham- ois and raffa (the practical dust and shower-proof qualities of which entitle them to a prominent place) to softly smart feminine headgear is a work that can only be done satisfactorily by an artist. Most of the hats (or bonnets rather, for they all hark back to the granny bonnet shape) fit close to the head, coming well down on the forehead and covering the ears. At the back, falling over the neck, is a short curtain frill of the same material as the hat. This keeps the dust from settling inside the coat collar. In front they are cleverly cut so that they can be pulled down on the forehead to protect the hair, and rolled back coquettishly to show the silk lining when desired. The trimming if of the simplest kind. The hats of chamis and kid have narrow stitched strapping of the same material, and under the chin is a workmanlike strap with buttons by way of fastening. For silk or raffa bonnets, large flat buttons covered with the material, or choux of chiffon placed at either side usually make up the ornamentation. A very smart model in raffa has a flat fold of the material across the front. This is piped on either side with brilliant plaid silk. Tan in several shades is extremely popular, but green, elephant gray and purple are also much in demand. On the same order, but made of thin china silk is a hood intended for opera wear. It is so light that the most elaborate coiffure is safe, and yet the protection given from wind is absolute. A very full frill of lace set round the face gives an adorably quaint finish and softens the dark line. It is kept on by means of long strips of chiffon passed through bands of the material in the front and on the sides.

Carhart, as he did not especially seek oratorical honors. Even though he was fired from DePauw University, Mr. Watson has been sufficiently honored by that school to make amends for any wrong done in the past. For ten years past, Mr. Watson has been urged to come back to DePauw and allow the college to confer the degree on him even though he never graduated. He finally consented to the honor a few years ago, when he delivered the commencement address before the Senior class there.

In a personal letter to Mr. Watson, Prof. Carhart assures the local statesman that he is in no manner responsible for that part of the article in reference to him. He makes some rather pointed statements in the letter which is reproduced from the original below.

That part of the article which pertains to Mr. Watson, after the writer has told the story of Beveridge's life down to the time he was returned to the senate the second time, is as follows:

Since then Senator Beveridge has again been returned to the Senate. He is now a candidate for a third election. There are some Republicans of the kind that through public assistance are rapidly being retired to private life, who hope that Beveridge will never go back. This faction is led by Jim Watson and ex-Senator Hemenway. Watson was Cannon's whip in Congress until the voters ordered him home. He has been Senator Beveridge's personal enemy ever since they were students at DePauw together—since the days Beveridge took all the honors and Watson was fired.

The letter which Mr. Watson received from the former DePauw professor is as follows:

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 13, 1910.
Hon. James E. Watson,
Rushville, Indiana

Dear Friend:—My attention has just been called to Collier's for October 15, containing a write-up of Beveridge, in which I am quoted. It also contains a nasty jab at you for which you know I am in no way responsible, but I want to assure you I am not in sympathy with it.

While I am always ready "to raise immortals up, I am not disposed to drag angels down."

Please do not in any way associate me with the reflection on you.

Assuring you of my high personal regard, I am,

Yours Cordially,

JOSEPH CARHART.

Favors Five Year Quail Law

The proposition of a law forbidding the killing of quail in this State for five years is one that several lawmakers have entertained at different times; and such a bill will probably be introduced at the next State legislature.

The argument that has been used against this proposition before is that under the present law any land owner in the State can protect quails on his place as long as he wants to by prohibiting hunting thereon, and that hawks and cold winters kill more quails than the hunters do. The first part of this proposition is true.

But a great deal of advantage is taken of the farmer in this way; his lawyer, or his doctor, or his merchant from whom he buys, or some person with whom he is in business intimacy will say to him a few days before the quail season opens, "I'd like to come out to your house as soon as the law opens and do a little hunting. I haven't been away from my place of business for a long time and the outing will do me good." The farmer may possibly tell him that he doesn't want his quails killed, but the other fellow will cmenly swear that he will kill nothing but rabbits; a promise which of course he will break every time a covey of quails get up in front of him, and while the farmer believes that he will and really does not want him on his place yet he fears to give offense by refusing.

If the hunters think that five years is too long and next legislature may pass a two year law, birds given that length of time to increase, then the succeeding legislature, in 1913, could handle the matter as they deem wise. If quails are plentiful enough at that time they need not renew the prohibitory act.

The legitimate hunter favors such a law and there is no mistaking where the farmer stands in the matter. Quails have proven a boon to the farmer in ridding his crops of insects of all kinds and in return have not damaged him at all. A five year law would not be a bad thing as the birds are getting scarce in Rush county and other parts of the State. For instance, just ask the hunter who seeks them in season.

OPEN UP STORE AT OLD STAND

Fred Caldwell, the Undertaker, Has New Line of Furniture in Room in Main Street.

IS READY FOR BUSINESS NOW

Fred Caldwell has opened his furniture store in Main street at the old stand, where he has been located for a number of years and is ready for business. Although he has not yet received all of his stock he is prepared to make sales as he has a variety of pieces, but not his complete stock. He has purchased everything new and up-to-date and expects to carry on a big business. It has been said that Mr. Caldwell will not continue in the undertaking business but that is not true. He expects to continue in the business which he has had for a number of years and will be found at the same place in the Bowen room in Main street. The interior of the room has been newly papered and decorated, so that it now presents a beautiful appearance.

AMUSEMENTS

The Vaudet management has a good program to offer this evening in the Thanhouser film, "Gone to Coney Island" and "Booming Business." The first is a clean comedy and pictures the trials and incidentally the fun which Mrs. Green and her next best friend, Prof. Griggs, have in the search for her maid in Coney Island. They start on the hunt of their hired girl, whom they believe has been led astray, but they neglect their mission when they are imbued with the Coney Island spirit. It is racy in the extreme. "Booming Business" is a comedy, telling a story of the many and unique features which a young man uses to get new business. Miss Lena Thomas of Arlington, well known here where she has played on numerous occasions, has been engaged to play the piano at the Vaudet in the absence of C. B. Worth, who has resigned. She will take up her duties Monday. Miss Thomas is a musician of ability and has played before the Ladies Musicale a number of times. She has accompanied her sister, who is an accomplished violinist at the Vaudet in many special entertainments.

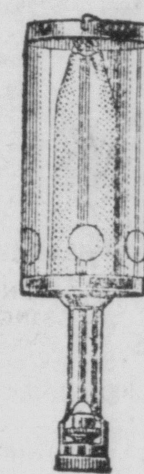

The Star-Grand offers another Kalem subject tonight entitled "A Leap For Life." It is an Indian picture and is another of the French-Canadian in which the Kalem players have been so successful of late. The story is vouched for as a real incident gleaned from the early history of Canada during the period when the French voyageurs were in constant contact with the redmen along the border. The story is a pretty one and is well worked out. The scenes in the Northwest are admirably portrayed both in selection in background and the work of the camera artist. Earl Robertson will sing "It's Always June When You're in Love."

The Palace theater will be in charge of four members of the Tri Kappa sorority. The young ladies who will run the show are the Misses Edith Wilk, Florence Frazee, Anna Megee and Hazel Lytle. Miss Frazee will play and Miss Lytle will do the singing. This in itself should attract a good crowd. The proceeds are to be used to help pay the expenses of the State convention to be held here next year. The program for tonight will include two reels of pictures. The first is a Lubin film, "Love's Old, Sweet Song." The other is a Biograph, "Examination Day at School." Both are good pictures and should attract large audiences.

Owing to the difficulty of securing fresh eggs, most of the mining companies in Mexico have their own poultry yards.

LORD LOVELAND DISCOVERS AMERICA

BY C.N. & A.M. WILLIAMSON.

Copyright, 1910, by Doubleday, Page & Company
Copyright, 1908, by the McClure Company

Elinor Coolidge's first thought after reading Tony Kidd's very entertaining story in the New York Light went no further than the fun of paying a visit to Alexander the Great's and being waited upon by the man whose supercilious airs on the Mauretania had made her feel "ready to burst with spontaneous combustion." Then it occurred to her that it would be dramatic to collect the whole circle of girls, excepting little sporty sporty, to whom Lord Loveland had been attentive on board the Mauretania. Each girl must if possible bring a man, Elinor naturally picking out the best for herself, and the most desirable seemed to be Comte de Rocheverte, a new arrival in America, whom she had met for the first time a night or two after returning to New York. His answer having assured her that Raoul de Rocheverte was "entirely and devotedly at her service when, where and how she liked," she telephoned to the four girls she wanted for the adventure. Of these one could not come; another could, but wouldn't for the same reason as Fanny's (this was Madge Beverley), and the remaining two thought it would be "more fun than a wedding." Each would bring a man (Mrs. Milton also could be trusted to find one), and the party would therefore consist of eight.

Never since Bill Willing had first made the fame of Alexander the Great had there been such a busy day in the red restaurant as the day when Tony's story and sketch of "The Marquis of Twelfth Street" appeared in the New York Light.

There was more work than Alexander, Loveland and the two others could do; therefore soon after 12 the aid of "Miss Izzie" had to be called in. The colored cook and the cook's assistant worked until their brains were as nearly addled as any egg ever employed in their most economical moments, and to several members of the staff the reason for the rush remained a mystery. Alexander knew and smiled in his sleeve. Isidora knew and cast reproachful "I told you so!" glances at her father as she heard the rustle of opening newspapers. But the Pole did not understand the curious questions people whispered to him. Blinky was stupid as well as sullen, while, as for Loveland himself, none dared to catechize him, so set were his lips, so threatening his brows.

Of course he suspected that it was he who brought the crowd and raged in the shame of his burning martyrdom. Alexander had said that he was to be "used for all he was worth," and he was sure that already he was in some way being used. But he did not know how or guess the worst.

His one consolation was that the crowd Alexander had drawn to gaze at the tame marquis was a common crowd. Indeed, he thought there was no danger that the red restaurant would be invaded by the upper classes.

MUST BELIEVE IT

When Well-Known Rushville People Tell it so Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Rushville the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every backache sufferer, every man, woman or child with any kidney trouble will find profit in the reading.

Harrison Levi, 931 North Sexton Street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I have nothing but praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, for they have been of great benefit to me. I was subject to attacks of kidney trouble and no doubt the complaint was brought on by the hardships I endured while in the war. I had severe pains in my back and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage. This weakness disturbed my rest at night and I knew that something must be done. Three years ago Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and procuring a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store, I began their use. In a short time the backache and kidney weakness had disappeared and I was in much better health. I cannot say that I am completely cured, but I know that I can rely upon Doan's Kidney Pills for relief, and I can also say that their use has spared me a great amount of suffering. I have previously given a public statement in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills and I gladly endorse them again."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

With the feigned indifference of a caged white bear for a bank holiday crush the new waiter performed his duties during the day. If the restaurant were crammed throughout the afternoon, by 6 o'clock there was a mob. By 7, however, the place began to clear, and Alexander rejoiced, because there was much work for his staff to do before 8. Dishes must be washed and special food cooked and a dozen tables prepared for two "crowds" that had engaged accommodation in advance.

One was a wedding party of Italians, numbering fifteen. The other was something more exciting—a party of "swells" who had telephoned for dinner at 8.

Laughing and talking, they all tramped into the restaurant—Elinor Coolidge and Comte de Rocheverte, Eva Tanner and Kate Wood, with the handsome Hungarian twins, who were rather sought after in New York just then; Baron Ludovic Zsencha and his brother Paul; last Mrs. Milton and Tony Kidd.

Tony had intended to drop in at Alexander's in any case to have a look at the marquis of Twelfth street, who had been "discovered" by that morning's Light, but he would have come on directly after returning from a second out of town expedition if a telegram had not been forwarded to the country asking him to be Mrs. Milton's escort.

He was disappointed to find that Fanny was not going, and his spirits were dashed by the news that she disapproved of the "Loveland sensation," for which he knew himself to be largely responsible. Nevertheless, in manner he was as gay as the others when the party of eight made its merry raid upon Alexander's.

The Italian marriage feast was already in full swing. But neither the bridal party nor any of the thirty or forty other occupants of the restaurant were too deeply absorbed in their own affairs to notice the arrival of the "swells."

"Hello! I suppose we ought to feel honored," muttered Leo Cohen, who had just arrived from the west and was paying a surprise visit to the establishment of his future father-in-law. He had demanded fried oysters and coffee and had greatly enjoyed giving the order to the handsome new member of Alexander's staff.

"Get a move on, if you please," he finished, pointing his black mustache and prodding his white teeth with a gold toothpick as he stared at the man made notorious by today's newspapers. Pressing his lips tightly together, Loveland turned away to pass the order to Black Dick, the cook.

It was at this moment that Mrs. Milton's party entered the restaurant, and Mr. Cohen murmured his comment to Isidora, who at her father's suggestion was hovering about that young gentleman's table, looking her prettiest.

Tony Kidd at Mrs. Milton's request had telephoned for a table for eight, to be withdrawn as far as possible from the big front window, that dinner and diners need not be criticised by the man in the street, and as Loveland pushed back the red drapery, carrying a tray loaded with ice cream for the Italians, he looked straight into the eyes of Elinor Coolidge, Mrs. Milton and the newspaper man, Tony Kidd.

Not since early morning had he found a moment's rest. He had had no appetite and would have had little time to eat even if he had been hungry. The day's work had irritated and unnerved him up to the last notch of his endurance. No battle of his brief but lively South African experience had cost him, physically or mentally, as much as these thirteen hours of waiting on Alexander's customers, and the sudden sight of those familiar faces, smiling coolly on his shame, came upon him like a volley of bullets from a quick firing gun.

Involuntarily Val took a step back, knocked the edge of the tray against the doorpost and dropped it with a crash of breaking crockery.

Plates smashed, spoons flew, and ice cream gushed among the ruins. Blinky and the Polish waiter sprang to their colleague's assistance, not displeased, however, that he should be disgraced. Alexander scolded, the Italian bride screamed and had to be reassured by the bridegroom. Leo Cohen laughed disagreeably, Isidora jumped, and Mrs. Milton's party looked at each other from under lifted eyebrows.

In the confusion of the breakage Loveland found himself again. Pride came to his rescue—not mere hurt vanity, but a truer pride than had ever made his heart beat high.

As he bent down to pick up the broken plates he told himself that these people, who had come to plunge him still deeper in humiliating depths, were not worth a pang and should not see that they had power to inflict it.

For one short instant he detested Mrs. Milton so intensely that he half regretted his vow to spare her name at all hazards, but by the time he had picked up the last piece of broken crockery he knew that if everything were to come over again he would do as he had done.

"I take dat out of your wages," said Alexander, loudly enough to be heard by those who sat round the table near to the curtained door.

"Of course," replied Loveland, his voice steady.

"I shouldn't have thought the British aristocracy would have such clumsy ways," Leo Cohen remarked audibly to Isidora, then called facetiously across the room, "Say, Alexander, got any mock turtle soup tonight?"

"No," growled Alexander.

"Thought you might be making a specialty of it this week," went on Cohen.

"Why?"

"Oh, cute idea for an advertisement—'mock turtle served by mock marquis.'"

A titter went round the room among those who had enough English to understand the joke, and there was even a faint, suppressed sound of laughter at Mrs. Milton's table.

Loveland turned white. He had an impulse to hurl the broken dishes now collected on the tray straight at Cohen's oiled black head, and a week ago he would have done so without stopping to reflect. But he had lived longer in six days since landing in New York than in as many years before, and he was learning a lesson which no one had even tried to teach him in the past—mastery of himself.

Pale, but perfectly composed in appearance, he did not even look toward Cohen and seemed to take no more notice of the young man's impertinence than of the barking of some mongrel dog, too feeble to be kicked.

Republican Candidate For Congress in 2nd Indiana District.

EUROPEAN BALLOON TRIP IS ABANDONED

Wellman's Party Picked Up At Sea By Steamer.

New York, Oct. 19.—Walter Wellman and his five companions, who last Saturday morning sailed from Atlantic City in the dirigible balloon America in an attempt to fly to Europe along the northern steampship route, were picked up at sea by the steamer Trent, Captain C. E. Down, bound for New York, at a point about 375 miles east of Norfolk, Va., and about 250 miles northwest of Bermuda.

The America, after a record flight for dirigibles of about seventy hours, was sighted close to the water in distress and was abandoned by Wellman and his crew, all of whom sought safety aboard the Trent with the help of the dirigible's lifeboat. On being free of the weight of the crew the airship immediately shot skyward as the lifeboat was taking the water. The sea that was running at the time was moderate and the aeronauts had very little difficulty in reaching the Trent and boarding that steampship. The balloon, now a speck in the sky, was left to the winds, to founder in the Atlantic when her gas has escaped.

None of the aeronauts was found to have suffered seriously from his adventures. Wireless telegraphy, which first helped in life-saving at sea when the steampship Republic suffered a collision a year ago last winter, for the first time played an important part in aeronautical rescue, the Trent's attention having been called to the America's distress by wireless message. Although Wellman had been blown far from his course by the winds that began to come out of the northwest Sunday night, thereby making his announced plans futile, the flight establishes a world's record for dirigibles. The previous record for dirigibles was held by Count Zeppelin, who last year flew from Dusseldorf to Bitterfeld and return, a total distance of 840 miles, in thirty-eight hours.

The serious troubles of the airship crew began when Wellman and the crew noticed that so much gas was escaping from the big bag that the balloon was settling toward the waves. To keep from dropping into the water it was necessary to throw out tank after tank of gasoline, which left the airship without fuel for the engines.

STORM DAMAGE WAS APPALLING

Florida and Lower Georgia Suffer Enormous Loss.

EXTENT ONLY CONJECTURAL

With All Wires Down South of Savannah, the Loss Due to the Tropical Storm Which Swept Up Out of the Caribbean Can Only Be Guessed, but It Is Known to Be Appalling—Hundreds Killed in Cuba.

New Orleans, Oct. 19.—Seven vessels in the Central American trade are overdue here and great apprehension exists in regard to them in consequence of the severe tropical storm raging in the Gulf of Mexico and Caribbean sea.

Havana, Oct. 19.—Communication with the interior has not yet been restored. It is rumored that the loss of life in the province of Pinar del Rio will amount to hundreds, while tens of thousands are destitute.

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 19.—After sweeping across the Florida peninsula, and causing millions of dollars damage from Key West to Jacksonville, the West Indian hurricane is south-east of Savannah. The storm has been one of unusual severity, causing wire communication to be severed with all points south of Savannah.

It is known that three lives were lost in Key West, where the property loss was great. Tampa, St. Augustine, Miami and Jacksonville were either in the center or within the danger zone of the storm and suffered loss, though no estimate of the damage is yet obtainable.

Communication Cut Off.

As all the wires south have failed, what has happened in south Florida is only a matter of conjecture. When communication was lost with Tampa the gale was blowing over sixty miles an hour and great damage to property was being done. The orange groves in south Florida have undoubtedly been practically ruined. The gale was over sixty miles an hour at Jacksonville, and the property damage was reported as enormous. Loss of life was reported, but could not be verified. The last heard from St. Augustine reported the waves rushing over the sea wall, endangering property on the sea front, while the marshes for miles around were already inundated. The wind was increasing and the barometer falling. The gale here reached a velocity of sixty miles an hour and property was damaged enormously. Over 1,000,000 bales of cotton on the docks here are in danger of being swept away. Reports from Brunswick are to the effect that the storm is being felt in full force there and that great damage is being done.

Gulf Waters Unusually High.

Harlingen, Tex., Oct. 19.—The greater part of Padre Island, which extends north and south, bordering the lower Texas coast for ninety miles, is inundated by the unusually high water of the gulf. So far as known no lives were lost.

SCIENCE INTERESTED

Medical Research Advanced by Dr. Carrel's Astonishing Discovery.

Baltimore, Oct. 19.—Along lines conceived by himself and worked out under the skillful guidance of the Hopkins men who are at the head of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, Dr. Alexis Carrel has made one of the most important medical discoveries of the age, and one which promises to have a wide influence in the advancement of science. Dr. Carrel's discovery involves a method of removing from the human body portions of tissue and making them grow at as lively a rate as they did in the human form to which they belonged. The method of cultivating the living body or portions of it is somewhat similar to the cultivation of disease germs, and is by the aid of culture material within sealed receptacles. Through the study of living tissues the whole progress of disease may be followed and the way pointed out for the application of proper and effective remedies. It is believed that much may be learned which will lead to a more intelligent treatment of cancer than is now possible.

BALLOON RACE WILL MAKE NEW RECORDS

At Least That Is Expectation of Promoters.

St. Louis, Oct. 19.—Three balloons, the St. Louis No. 4, Condor and Million Club, are on the ground in the international balloon race. Ten started from St. Louis Monday. The seven other racing spheres have crossed Lake Michigan and are believed to be sailing over Lake Huron, while perhaps one or two are heading northeast over Lake Superior.

St. Louis No. 4 landed near the shore of Lake Huron at Hillman, Mich. The Condor landed about four miles north of Two Rivers, Wis. The Million Club came to earth six and a half miles north of Racine, Wis. The pilot said he landed with eight sacks of ballast, which he had not considered enough to carry him over Lake Michigan with the wind blowing from the southwest. All world's records will probably be broken.

HANDS OFF

That is the President's Attitude in Relation to New York Fight.

New York, Oct. 19.—President Taft will not involve himself further in the New York state campaign. He will rest on the statement made through Mr. Stimson, that he does not believe that the 1912 presidential nomination is an issue in the present fight.

Some New York state Republicans have urged Mr. Taft to take a more definite stand in regard to this matter; to say something himself that will help to combat the roar that is being raised that a vote for Stimson means a vote for Roosevelt in 1912. The president's close friends in New York state, however, have advised him to steer clear of any unnecessary complication in the New York state fight, and this advice has fallen in with the president's own inclination, and it is practically decided that he will not take part further in the New York campaign except to send two members of his cabinet into the state to speak in support of the Republican nominee.

Modern Life Would Be Too Hard on the Nerves If It Were Not For Want Advertising

The pace of life has become tense. Worries, disappointments, up-sets at home and office, losses, discouragements seem to multiply as daily life becomes more complex.

The property owner, who MUST have a steady income from rents or lose his property, is "racked" by the untimely defection of a tenant. Some classified advertising quickly retrieves his loss—and quiets his nerves!

The salary-earner unexpectedly loses his position—and his peace-of-mind. The strain would shortly "break" something in his nervous system, if, once more, want advertising did not find the better job—and restore him his mental equilibrium.

In every phase of the city's life, every day, the Want Ads play the part of the peace-maker. They SERVE you and me at some crisis in our lives—and keep the modern pace and tension from proving too fast and tight for US.

Truly, the Want Ads ARE FOR SERVICE!

BURNING LEAVES ANNOYS PUBLIC

Smoke in Air is Very Disagreeable and Besides It's a Wonton Waste of Fertilizer.

WILL MAKE THE GRASS GROW

Not Much Attention is Paid to City Ordinance in Regard to Leaf Burning.

Several complaints have come to the Republican of smoke from burning leaves annoying people in their homes a long distance away from the fires. With the present condition of the atmosphere in the hazy autumn days, the smoke stays close to the ground and the disagreeable odor is carried a long distance.

There is a general disregard among residents of the city for the city ordinance on leaf burning. The statute provides that leaves shall be fired only between the hours of six in the morning and two in the afternoon. The law provides for a heavy penalty in cases of conviction of violation. Local people will do well to remember what the offense may cost them.

If the people only knew the value of leaves the burning of them would cease entirely. People experience in such matters say that it is a great mistake to rake leaves from grass plots. If twice as many were there as usually fall they say it would be all the better for the grass and after the first good rain the leaves would have practically disappeared. The leaves soon disintegrate from dew and frost and settle about the grass roots making the finest of fertilizer.

There is no better fertilizer for the garden, for shrubbery etc., than dead leaves for they decompose and unite with the soil far more quickly than other natural fertilizer.

Since chicken raising has become the fad in town and city homes a new use is found for dead leaves and the demand is great enough for all that falls on the premises. Simply throw the leaves into the chicken yard. Then sow a handful or two of grain among leaves and the chickens will do the rest. Chickens thrive best when busy and a stack of leaves and the bait of a little grain will keep them everlastingly scratching. As the leaves become packed they are a supposedly safe harbor for various insects but the chickens will hunt out these intruders if it takes a week.

WORSTED IN FRAY WITH ATHLETE

Thug Attacks Cullen Thomas, Football Captain, Who Has Visited Here Many Times.

USES "SHOE STRING" TACKLE

Bruises adorning the face of Cullen Thomas, captain of the Butler College football team at Irvington, who is well known here and has visited here many times, were explained yesterday when it was learned on the campus that the athlete and a fair "coed" with whom he was strolling in Irvington, were attacked by a thug Saturday night, shortly before midnight. Thomas' companion was a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority and prominent in college affairs. The two had succeeded in keeping the details of the affair secret up to yesterday morning, the residents of the suburb who were aroused from their slumbers having given their promises to keep the incident quiet.

Instead of attending a dance, the captain passed the evening taking long walks with the "coeds" along the winding highways of the classic suburb. It was on one of these strolls while at Bolton and Lowell avenues that a highwayman stepped from behind the trees and dealt Thomas several blows in the face with a pair of "knucks," demanding that he throw up his hands.

According to eyewitnesses, who were aroused and came from their homes upon hearing the girl's screams, Thomas showed fight, while his fair partner fled in haste. Thomas tackled his assailant in true football fashion and brought him to the ground. After a lively encounter the holdup man broke away and made good his escape.

START WORK IN BUSINESS SECTION

Adams Construction Company Begin Tearing up Main Street Between Third and Fourth Streets.

MAKING VERY GOOD PROGRESS

Work was started today on tearing up Main street between Third and Fourth streets. As this is the first work done on the paving in the business district much interest is being shown. It was thought that the work would only be completed to the C. H. & D. railroad this fall, but the plan of the contractors is to push the work just as fast as they can. The work of laying the brick has been delayed on account of not being able to get enough sand. The concrete is on almost to Fifth street. Work on the cement curb has been finished as far as the railroad.

SCHEDULE FOOTBALL GAME

Rushville High School Will Play Cambridge City Saturday.

The high school football team will play Cambridge City here Saturday. The game was arranged for today and the local team is practicing hard for the contest. This will be the first time in several years that the two schools have carried on athletic relations. The Cambridge City high school has only recently been admitted to the Indiana High School Athletic Association and this permitted the two teams coming together. Rushville will in all probability play a return game at Cambridge City but the exact date has not been set. The high school team has greatly improved since the game with Greenfield and a good game may be expected.
